

Back Story

In the far future, the world of Terra is in ruin. Once an oasis, now an apocalyptic wasteland, powerful factions with hidden agendas fight for control of key locations and valuable resources. Each faction relies on Strength, Strategy and Resilience in the pursuit of victory for their kind!

Legions Imperius

Interglobal Police who monitor all life within specified zones by reading various forms of wavelengths and signals being distributed through space. Using predictive metrics based on historical data, the Legions Imperius seeks to disrupt and end all conflicts on lands claimed by the Imperius Government to ensure the safety and procurement of all required Imperius resources. Although Terra is under rule of the Imperius Government, various conflicts and distrust of the Imperius government, uprisings have begun spreading across the planet in part caused due to a lack of respect to the native Commonwealthians and their native lands by the Imperius.

Drow Coven

Evil, magical beings that have arrived on Terra to seek precious minerals used in the Coven's rituals. With an assortment of scrolls, potions and elixirs, the Drow perform sacrifices to curse beings and lands, which then give an advantage to the Drow Coven who thrive in lands of poison disease due to their experimentation with various elements which result in various resistances. The Drow Coven seek to conquer Terra, imposing a systematic hierarchy not dissimilar to that of a cattle farm for the purpose of ritual and sacrifice, in the hopes of summoning the long-lost Master of Drow Coven

Hive Swarm

A research facility experimenting on the native fauna of Terra has been overrun by the Skeletonian Empire. While attempting to download the facility's research into their own collective consciousness, they were exposed to an unknown virus and ceased functioning. A digital footprint of the Skeletonian Empire's directives was imprinted onto the computer systems of the research facility which then gave birth to the Hive Swarm. A swarm of cybernetic bugs and insects who think collectively with little to no empathy. It is undetermined if the Hive Swarm seek to destroy others, protect resources or gain control for themselves.

Skeletonian Empire

Reanimating robot skeletons, digital zombification, nano-machines, Techno-kinesis.
Predators (pose as friends, offer gifts, lure, manipulate, illusory)

Forgotten Hordes

Abominations born out of death and disease. As the planet Terra lay a desolate wasteland due to warfare, it cultivated a lifeform known as the forgotten hordes. Often existing as deformed versions of entities that lay deceased, there are reports of a deformed amalgam of creatures with a high level of intertwined consciousness existing as a single being, living, or growing, deep beneath the surface of Terra. The Forgotten Hordes feast on and eradicate all forms of life that the hordes encounter and seem to have no other goal or drive. It is uncertain at what point the Forgotten Horde will started or will cease activity.

Mechanised Commonwealth

The people native to the land of Terra before invasion by the various malicious groups of entities such as the Drow Coven and the Skeletonian Empire.
